-These are busy days for the farmers. Hay making and wheat harvest M. Summers chairman, O. T. Collar have come at the same time and this means hustle from sun to sun. The hay-crop is immense and it is expected that some wheat fields may yield as much as 50 bushels to the acre. This is pretty good for a crop that scarcely promised anything in the spring. After the wheat and hay are safely garnered then will come the harvest and following that will come the preparation for fall seeding so that Mr. Farmer has plenty to do. -Louisville Herald.

FORTUNES IN BIBLES

It has happened not infrequently that eccentric wealthy people have concealed sums of money in the family Bible, where it has been discovered by chance long after their decease Such an incident recently occurred in Paris. A young French poilu return-ed home from the front to find his father had just died. He had left him nothing in his will, only the family Bible. Closer inspection revealed be-tween its pages securities to the value of £15,000

A few years ago a young nobleman who was in financial difficulties had occasion to refer to the family Bible for a date there recorded. In so doing he came across a number of Bank of England notes, amounting collectively to a considerable sum, which more than met his liabilities. Then he recalled his mother's dying words "Help might be found in the Bible when all other sources failed." But he had paid small heed to the in junction, and certainly never dreamed of so practical a fulfillment of her words.

A student purchased an interesting old Bible at a secondhand bookseller's some years ago for a few shillings. On taking it home he was delighted to discover banknotes to the value of £1,000 folded between the sacred pages. Another ancient Bible was found to contain poles to the extent of £700 to centain notes to the extent of £700. This was owned by a prodigal son who lived many years unconscious of the wealth in his possession,—Tit Bits,

LOYAL BUSINESS MEN

There is a small percentage of American business men who would rob a church or an orphanage, but the percentage is negligible. Business men come from the same stock as the rest of us and have got as high standards as any other class. And they have a bit more vision than most of us, because they have broader experus, because they have broader experience. The theory to work upon with the business man is the thing to use with the boy, that he is a pairtot. The first call upon the business man is the patriotic call. I took a man from a $30,000 place and put him to work at $2,500 by telling him that he had a call to the colors. Sentiment is not a dead thing. The railroad men at the time of the threatened national strike yielded to it, so did the coal men when yielded to it, so did the coal men when volunteered to cut their prices

The world will take you at your own value, but don't forget that the world is mighty quick to discover it if you have overated yourself.

Make saving money a habit. Save a little money habitually.

A bad habit will put the rollers under you—but a good habit is your best

There's no better habit than saving Saving money is good any time, but it's better now than usually.

We're at war and we've all got to do our best. There's no room for the spendthrift, the waster, the rounder.

Determined men who give their strength for the nation are the men who will win this war. The man who saves money, usually is a man of strength and character and courage. Be a saver—for your country's sake. Say to yourself: "Every week when I get my pay envelope I will put so much in bank," and keep your word. Save a little money regularly.-Ex.

TESTIMONY FROM PAST A perfervid pacifist of the militant

ame of Samson, haranguing a meeting of "conscientious objectors" in-dulged in this flight of fancy: "If Christ, Mohammed and Moses were on the exemption boards they would exempt the whole 10,000,000."

Yet Moses murdered an Egyptian in the days of hothended youth, and in the calm of age fought the Midianites, the Moabites and other tribes that barred the path of his people.

Mohammed preached untiringly the gospel of the sword, and in the Koran promised to the faithful who should fall in battle with the infidel the delights of an eternal paradise, with hours innumerable. And it was Christ who said: "Think not that I am come to send peace on earth; I came not to send peace, but

Sordiers in the fighting zone prize their rations of jam "above rubles." When Germany first imposed her food restrictions the people implored the dictators to give them—not potatoes or meat, not even bread, but marmalade. A man who undertook a 1,000-mile ange trip in Northern Canada negotiated 23 miles of only rapids through which the current swept his craft so swiftly that the distance was cover-ed in three hours, because of his yearning for the jam left at the last cache. Such items account for the enormous per capita consumption of almost fabulous production, at no time has the supply appreciably ex-ceeded the demand. They also indicate that, though the appetite for sweets is presumed to be peculiar to the sex feminine, men are subject to the same frailty-if such it be, since sugar is one of our principal carbohy drates. It was once thought effem nate in a man to eat candy, but does any one credit the young man who takes a two-pound box to her for Sunday evening consumption with destroy ing less than his fair share" The "sweet tooth" is well developed in both sexes.

English papers are urging every-body to make as much jam and marmalade as supplies of fruit and sguar will warrant. The sinking of a ship with a cargo of 40,000 tons of sugar by a submarine is lamented, because of a consequent advance in price, of a consequent advance in price, which makes for a curtailment in jam making. Sugar Is now 12 and 15 cents in England. Our soldiers are quite as likely to appreciate jams and marmalade as Tommy Atkins and M. Pollu, not only in the field, but in the convalescent hospitals. While naturally the home housekeeper can do little to gratify this want on a large scale, she can do a little, and as the old Scotch proverb runs, "Many a mickle makes a muckle." For her acquaintances in the army and for use in hospitals, she should put up as much fruit as possible, in a fashion to bear transportation. Our own country faces a possible shortage in sugar, and it is incumbent upon us all to reduce our average daily consumptions. We could diminish it by one quarter and never miss it, would be in better health, probably, since an excess of carbohydrates is detrimental. And we may possibly be obliged to thus reduce.—Detroit
